Handing It Off To God

It is a scary time when you sit across the desk from a doctor, and you hear him say You have cancer. Lots of praying was done prior to the meeting with the doctor. However, I was confident that by placing it in God's hands everything would be fine. At the time my thoughts were if I lived, I would win and can stay in this life. If I must die, I win because I would go to meet Jesus. This was in August 2014. I was diagnosed with Chronic Lymphocytic Leukemia (CLL). The doctor explained that if you had to have cancer, this was the best kind to get. He said people can live for years without having to take medication for it.

One year later in October 2015, due to enlarged lymph nodes, I had to go on a drug that was specifically targeted for this type of cancer. It is now 2023 and although I am still on this drug I am doing well. I believe if you place it in God's hands it will work out in His time. I tell everyone when they ask, that God is not done with me yet. He has more for me to do. I am truly Blessed.

Blessings,

Jim Kitchen

VBS was such an incredible experience for the kids and everyone who was involved. The kids learned how to depend on God's word as the truth and how God gives them spiritual armor to wear. We had crafts, games, and lessons for preschoolers to fifth graders. The VBS mission this year was bringing cans for the WWCC food pantry, which helped the kids understand the importance of helping those in need. I wanted to give a special thanks to all of those who volunteered and helped in any way from the putting up decorations to being a class helper. VBS is a whole church effort and are thankful to the hard work and dedication of its members.

Also, please do not hesitate to contact me if you need anything or have any questions.

God Bless,

Kate
