

Cameroon General Hospital in Ossing

“This hospital is so critical for my family members who are suffering with preventable diseases in the village. As a healthcare professional, I owe my people this basic right to safe and accessible healthcare.” -Gladys Ayuketah

“Close your eyes and ponder for a moment; see yourself or one of your loved ones incurring a serious injury while in a remote area far from the comfort of your home. The absence of adequate care makes the injury worse, consequently overwhelming the body, eventually leading to death.

Why should we still allow such preventable deaths to occur in 2024 simply because they reside in Ossing, a rural suburb in Cameroon with limited access to healthcare facilities? In fact, the dilapidated road to the healthcare facility, inadequate staffing, intermittent energy supply and absence of potable water and medication are all factors that contribute to healthcare difficulties in Ossing.

Fortunately for you reading this, you don't have to go through this. However, our families resident in Ossing are still enduring this nightmare!”
