REGIONAL TRAINING SEMINAR

REGION 4

MARCH 4-6

GRAND GENEVA RESORT & SPA
LAKE GENEVA, WI

International Conference of Police Chaplains

WELCOME

Fellow Chaplains,

Greetings! Thank you for your “yes” to serve those who serve. Thank you for your “yes” to come alongside those in law enforcement. I hope each of you realize the need for your ministry, the value you bring and the contribution your presence makes. You are a remarkable people doing a remarkable work. Thank you.

As we conclude 2023 and approach the beginning of 2024, it means the Region 4 Regional Training Seminar (RTS) is just a couple months away. Please accept my personal invitation for you to join us in Lake Geneva, WI, March, 4-6. We will gather together at the Grand Geneva Resort for three days of training, encouragement, and celebration.

The challenges faced by our law enforcement communities demand that we do everything we can to be prepared to assist. We should be well-equipped assets who bring helpful support when called upon. I believe this year’s RTS will help fulfill that goal. We have four levels of instruction—Basic, Enrichment, Advanced and Liaison. If you are new to chaplaincy, or want a refresher, there are 10 Basic courses to provide you with a good foundation. Perhaps, you have been a chaplain for awhile and are looking to further your skills and expand your understanding, there are 17 Enrichment and 2 Advanced courses you can choose from. This year, we will also be offering the 4-class Liaison Officer training so officers and agencies can be better equipped to guide chaplaincy programs.

We will also have a couple of special presentations. First, Chaplain Jim Bontrager, President of The International Conference of Police Chaplains (ICPC), will lead a 2-part Enrichment session covering ICPC’s structure, operations and future. You will want to hear how ICPC is moving forward and working to expand chaplaincy. Second, our keynote speaker for the Tuesday night banquet will be Derek Mayer. Derek is the Deputy Special Agent in Charge of the United States Secret Service, Chicago Field Office. He is in charge of overseeing the daily operations of the entire Chicago district and is currently overseeing both the 2024 Republican and Democrat National Conventions.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to me. I look forward to meeting you in Wisconsin. Thank you for the privilege of serving you. God’s blessings be with you all.

Serving together,

Robert Vester
Regional Director, ICPC Region 4

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS — BASIC

CB06 Characteristics of Stress • Dan Coffey

Law Enforcement Officers have one of the most stressful jobs in the world. Our job as Chaplains is to help them identify those stressors and manage them in a positive way that will help them be more productive in not only their careers but their family lives as well. ## COURSE DESCRIPTIONS — ENRICHMENT

E01 Starting Peer Support in Your Agency • Detective Jeff Wissink, James Hackett-Director of Emergency Management Crawford County Sheriff's Office

This course will discuss how to set up a Peer Support Team. Selection process for members, discuss why PS is needed, and how to help your people.

E02 Financial Wellness for Law Enforcement • Glen Colwell, Managing Partner — Anew Advisors

As a leader, you know that the well-being of your department's officers is critical to their ability to perform their duties properly and effectively. While many departments focus on physical wellness and mental health support, financial wellness is often overlooked. Financial stress can not only have a negative impact on an officer's mental health and ability to focus on the job, but can impact their actions and judgment. By providing financial training, you can help your officers manage their money more effectively, reduce financial stress, and improve their overall well-being. Financial wellness is a key component of holistic wellness, and investing in it can pay dividends in terms of employee satisfaction, productivity, and long-term success. By providing financial training to your department, you are demonstrating your commitment to the well-being of your officers and investing in the long-term success of your department.

E03 Continued Aftercare of an Agency After a Tragedy • Scotty Backhaus

The immediate impact of a tragedy upon a department, without a doubt, affects many. However, that event doesn't fade away. A critical incident dealing with an agency, a line-of-duty death, or an officer's suicide will have lingering ripples that will go on for years. A chaplain and wellness program must be prepared for the continued aftercare of an agency after a tragedy. This session provides practical tips and advice to care for the departments in the coming years to help them process and care for themselves. For example, learning to record anniversaries of these events, who was involved, and taking special care to be understanding during these anniversaries.

E04 Law Enforcement K9's 101 • Todd Brehm, Sergeant, DOT-WSP

A day in the life of a law enforcement K9 handler. This course will give you a bird's eye view of the training and commitment of a law enforcement K9 handler. From the personal and professional rewards to the sacrifices and friendships you will endure during your K9 career.

E05 Operational vs Organizational Stress - A Leadership Perspective • Joseph Collins, Public Safety Liaison

Operational vs Organizational Stress: Research shows that first responders and more specifically, law enforcement, experience an inordinate number of traumatic/stressful events over a career. In some cases, those occurrences could reach into the hundreds over a 20–30-year career. Where do you go for resources to lean on organizationally or individually? What happens when you do not have the self-awareness to identify an adverse reaction to an event for yourself or a colleague? These are incredibly important questions for you to answer so you can mitigate risk both in your career and your personal life...before the critical incident occurs! This presentation will address the potential outcomes for first responders, which could result from repetitive exposures to stress and trauma during a career if adaptive coping skills are not built and maintained.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS — ENRICHMENT

E06 Northwoods Chaplaincy - Chaplains and the DNR • Anthony Arndt & Isaac Hackett, DNR Conservation Wardens

An overview of the roles of Wisconsin Conservation Wardens and where Chaplaincy fits in. Case studies involving recreational vehicle crashes and hunting incidents and how Chaplains can support critical incident response.

E07 What is the Role of the LODD Family Liaison Officer and Chaplain • George Papachristou

This class will describe the various duties of the family liaison officer and the chaplain in a Line of Duty Death. We will describe how the two roles collaborate and the importance of establishing boundaries. The importance of self-care will also be discussed.

E08 ICPC Structure and Operations • Jim Bontrager & Robert Vester

This course is the first of 2 courses being offered to help increase your understanding about ICPC. It will provide attendees with an in-depth look at the organizational structure of the ICPC and the role each part plays in fulfilling our mission of "Developing Professional Chaplains through Dynamic Education and Support."

E09 ICPC President's Session • Jim Bontrager

Where are we going? What can we accomplish in the future? This is the second of 2 courses offered to help increase your understanding about ICPC. Join ICPC President Bontrager, for a conversation about ICPC initiatives and opportunities that can make a difference in the years ahead.

E10 Walking with a Suicidal Officer • Barb Bigalke, Founder & Executive Director — Center for Suicide Awareness

The demanding work of a police officer can cause stress, anxiety and depression. It can disrupt sleep, cause friction with family members (side note is that I am married to a retired cop), create financial worry, and contribute to alcohol abuse, domestic abuse, and risky behaviors. It can also lead to a decline in physical health. For some officers, these elements can create a feeling of isolation, hopelessness and helplessness – all of which are risk factors for suicide.

Normalizing That "It's Okay To Not Be Okay" and understanding the language and setting we use can provide the safe space for authentic conversations and possible disclosures of suicidal thoughts. Understanding the difference between acutely suicidal and suicidal ideation. And how we can be a safe resource for a culture that has been told that you are weak if you are struggling.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS — ENRICHMENT

E11 Taking Care of Our Own on Our Worst Days • Sara Phelan & Michael Sasse, LEDR Team

Who do you turn to when the worst thing imaginable happens within your agency? The death of an employee can turn an agency completely upside down, especially if you're not prepared. The Wisconsin Law Enforcement Death Response Team does just that, steps in and assists agencies who have experienced a death regardless of the circumstances, Line-of-Duty, suicides, off-duty, non-sworn and retirees. The team will discuss some of the ways that your agencies can prepare, things you can do if you experience a loss, and how to help your agency and communities heal. They will also discuss proactive ways they are helping to keep law enforcement's mental health a priority from the first day in the academy all the way through retirement.

E12 LEO Panel: Impact of Chaplaincy in an Agency • John Putnam,

Panel Guests: Sheriff Roeseler — Sheboygan County,
Lt. Col. Chaffee, Cpt. Spence, & Cpt. Gruebele — WI State Patrol

A real world impact statement from multiple law enforcement professionals on the need and lasting impact of chaplaincy in an agency.

E13 Autism and Law Enforcement • Harold Gingerich

With autism numbers on the rise, recognizing and dealing with subjects with Autism is a growing challenge for members of law enforcement. Frequently what an officer perceives to be non-compliance is really the normal response of an autistic individual. If the officer fails to recognize the autistic behavior, their demands for compliance will only escalate the situation. This class will help equip chaplains to better understand autistic behavior and provide practical tools for dealing with an autistic subject.

E14 Taking Care of Our Own, Law Enforcement Suicide Prevention • Chris Prochut

This presentation includes tough facts, open conversation, humor and sometimes tears. Starting with a discussion of suicide and depression warning signs sometimes seen in Police Officers and others in helping professions, we examine the paradigm shift taking place in which it is becoming increasingly OK to ask for help. Yet, stigma still exists and many fear they will lose their job if they seek mental health assistance. There is a long way to go. Addressed are the topics of stigma, the "suck it up" attitude, the "I'm Fine" façade, and the myth that seeking help is a sign of weakness all culminating with one simple solution; TALK!

Learning Objectives:

- Suicide and depression warning signs
- Department Policy Revisions
- Special Resources for Police Officers/First Responders in Crisis
- Mental Health Stigma

E15 Death of a Child: Implications and Response • Steve Niles

This course will cover the considerations, preparation, response, and follow up to the death of a child. Law Enforcement responds to many critical incidents on a regular basis, but few compared to the call of a child that has died. The means of death complicate the LE response and reaction as the implication of criminal activity is considered. Whether by accident, tragedy, or intentional harm, the call to respond to the death of a child is one of the highest stress calls with lasting effects that LE must respond. This includes the LE Chaplain. We will discuss preparation, preconditioning, responding to the scene, and follow up after the call.

E16 Having a Multi-Jurisdictional Chaplain Program • Scotty Backhaus

What are the advantages of having a multi-jurisdictional or county-wide chaplain program? In this session, the Outagamie County Chaplain Program will be used as a case study to see how a multi-jurisdictional program can be effective in reaching many different agencies of various sizes, the roles of the chaplains within that program, establishing a call-out schedule, developing a STEERING committee, recruiting chaplains, financing the program, developing liaison officers. In addition, some thought will be provided on what works, what needs improvement, and how to improve the program.

E17 Family Field Training - Training, Equipping, Educating and Encouraging The Backbone of Your Department and Officers - the HOME! • Jennifer Lanzen

This course will give you practical, applicable take-aways to take back to your department to begin reaching your officer's spouses, significant others and families. Be ready to come away with ONE thing you can do to bridge the gap and begin to build a program to benefit the home front. It is without a doubt that the home front is crucial to the well-being of your officers and their job performance. Often, what is at home spills over into the work environment and even more importantly the home front doesn't know what is walking through the door at the end of shift. This course will show you a step-by-step approach to training, equipping, educating and encouraging those who are the backbone of the department and the officers, the HOME.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS — ADVANCED

A01 CISM in Practice • Michael Smith

CISM in Practice is an all-day course held on Monday.

(NOTE: This is NOT an ICISF ADVANCED CISM offering, however, previous CISM certification is a pre-requisite for this class.)

This training will focus on using the 5 T's (Theme, Target, Type, Timing, Team) of the Strategic Response to Crisis Planning Formula.

We will watch 2 true-life story movies and discuss CISM in light of these scenarios:

We Are Marshall - On Nov. 14, 1970, a commuter plane carrying the Marshall University football team, coaches and fans crashed on its way home from a game. Seventy-five people died. That overwhelming loss left families shattered, a football program in ruins and the small town of Huntington, W.V., reeling.

13 Lives – In the true story of Thirteen Lives, twelve boys and the coach of a Thai soccer team explore the Tham Luang cave when an unexpected rainstorm traps them in a chamber inside the mountain. Entombed behind a maze of flooded cave tunnels, they face impossible odds. A team of world-class divers navigate through miles of dangerous cave networks to discover that finding the boys is only the beginning. After each movie we will spend the next class time developing the Strategic Response that you will provide.

A02 Resilient Minds on the Front Line — Living the Resilient Life: How To Develop and Sustain The Resilient Mindset • Gary Holden, Rob Czepiel, Ken Schlenker

Resilient Minds is a multi-session course, which extends through all 3 days of the RTS. This course is presented by CareForce and participants will awarded Continuing Education Units (15 contact hours) through the Marsh Center for Chaplain Studies at B. H. Carroll Theological Seminary.

The Resilient Minds Training Program is a life-changing program that is based upon the basic concepts of positive psychology. The Resilient Minds Training Program is a three-day interactive training program which provides attendees with the roadmap to change the culture within their organization surrounding behavioral health issues. The curriculum focuses on the impact of operational and organizational stress, the effect of trauma and life experience on employee attitudes, holistic employee health strategies, and enhancing interpersonal and community relationships.

The positive effects of this training provide both tangible personal and professional benefits for students, even for those who have not experienced trauma. This training can help reshape an individual's thought process by reframing adversity as a "learning experience." It helps them to look at the world, themselves, and events they experience from a different perspective which emphasizes positivity and their strengths rather than their weaknesses.

Established in 1973, the International Conference of Police Chaplains (ICPC) is a 501(C)3 organization providing global training to law enforcement chaplains (volunteer or paid), liaison officers, and agency administrators.
Departments, regardless of size, can receive the benefits and information needed to develop and/or enhance their chaplaincy program.
Training provides continuing education units (CEU) and equips attendees to better serve law enforcement officers, families and communities.

Credentialing — members may substantiate their ongoing education by pursuing the following levels: Basic, Liaison, Senior, Master, Diplomate, and Fellow.
