FROM MONSIGNOR CHIDO, PASTOR

Dear Parishioners,

The Food Sale last weekend was a great success and I want to thank all of you who helped to put it together and to all of you who bought food. This is a wonderful project.

Fr. Reynaldo also wants to say thank you... "I want to thank EVERYONE for your support of the tamales Food Sale that benefited the San Oscar A. Romero Major Seminary in El Salvador. Our help will benefit many generations of seminarians and future priests, not only in Central America, but also in many other countries, as is my case. Bishop Elías Samuel Bolaños from the diocese of Zacatecoluca where I came from sent a letter of gratitude for all the work and dedication that St. Anthony carries out each year to make possible this activity-- and he sends us his blessing--Thank you."

I also want to encourage you to consider leading the daily Rosary. In the bulletin and enews is information about how you can be involved in this important project. Praying the Rosary in this day and age is what we must all consider doing and joining others in praying the Rosary is even more powerful. I hope you will prayerfully consider taking a day each month.

This is the last weekend to sign up to receive a St. Vincent de Paul food basket so if you know of someone who is in need, please let them know. Giving to this project is giving to our Lord and if you would like to help, again, see the bulletin for more information.

Finally, thank you to all who have continued to give in your tithes. During these challenging times, it is even more important to come to church, pray and participate in giving to the Church.

Monsignor Frank E. Chiodo

FAITH FORMATION

What's Holding You Back? Part 2

Hello Parents!

Two weeks ago we began examining the question that confirmation students are pondering this month in their classes, what's holding me back from becoming the person God created me to be? We were left with a question after discussing a couple points about our happiness: what will really make us happy?

Happiness is the result of right living. Honesty leads to happiness; dishonesty leads to misery. Caring for others leads to happiness; selfishness leads to unhappiness. Patience leads to happiness; impatience will make you miserable. There are right and wrong ways to live your life. The culture tells us that there is no right and wrong. The culture says that what's wrong for you might be right for me. This is nonsense. But how do you know what is the right thing to do? At a basic level, you just know. One of God's great gifts to you is conscience. Your conscience guides you in the way of right living so that you can celebrate the-best-version-of-yourself, and live your best life. God has given you another of his great gifts: reason.

Even though God has given us incredible minds to reason with, we still do a lot of stinking thinking. Let's take a quick look at some of the paths that the world proposes for happiness. Individualism. The creed of the individualist is: What's in it for me? Individualism is the philosophy of selfishness. The fruits of individualism are greed, selfishness, isolation, and exploitation. Individualism is stinking thinking. Hedonism. The creed of the hedonist is: Pleasure is the ultimate goal in life; if it feels good, do it! The fruits of hedonism are laziness, gluttony, procrastination, and lust. Hedonism is stinking thinking. Minimalism. The creed of the minimalist is: What's the least I can do? A minimalist is always seeking to exert the minimum effort and receive the maximum reward. Minimalism is the enemy of excellence and the father of mediocrity. Minimalism is stinking thinking. Relativism. The creed of the Relativist is: There is no absolute truth; what's true for you may not be true for me! Relativism contradicts itself because it claims, "It is absolutely true for everybody that nothing is absolutely true for everybody." The fruits of relativism are disorientation, intellectual and spiritual confusion, and hopelessness caused by the loss of any meaning in life. Relativism is stinking thinking. Reject the world's vision for your life. It will leave you empty and dissatisfied. Rebel against the culture. Truth, beauty, and goodness: These are what your soul is thirsty for. The philosophies the world wants to pass off to you are deficient in all three.

How are the ten commandments able to help us? Take a look at the video for 2.3 "Hungry for Truth." And then learn how students take this all to heart via a story about a rattlesnake in 2.4 "This is personal!" Journey with your student this month as both you and them learn what's holding them back from having the happiness God desires for them.

Please pray for all our students in confirmation this week! (Material taken from <https://www.dynamiccatholic.com/confirmation/decision-point-session-2-0.html>)
