Appreciation

The authors express their sincere appreciation to Mr. Michael Batts, CPA and managing partner, Batts Morrison Wales & Lee, P.A., Orlando, FL, and the staff of the firm for their valued assistance in reviewing the two sample tax returns included in this guide.

This publication is designed to provide accurate and authoritative information regarding the subject matter covered. The text has been significantly excerpted from the Zondervan Minister's Tax & Financial Guide, 2019 edition. It is distributed with the understanding that neither the publisher nor the authors are engaged in rendering legal, accounting, or other professional services. If legal advice or other expert assistance is required, the services of a competent professional person should be sought.

Every effort has been made to make the materials in this text current as of the date of publication. Federal tax law, however, is subject to change. Congress can modify the law as it has on numerous occasions over the years. Also, court decisions and IRS rulings can significantly affect the application of federal tax laws. Such changes may affect the accuracy of this publication.

Recent Developments

Ministers continue to be faced with a plethora of tax and finance developments. A summary of some of the more significant developments follows (see the “In the News” link at ECFA.Church for current updates on these issues and much more):

District Court calls minister's housing exclusion unconstitutional. A Wisconsin federal district court issued a ruling in the fall of 2017 declaring the minister’s housing exclusion unconstitutional.

This decision does not come as a surprise as the same judge issued a similar ruling back in 2013 before the case was dismissed by a higher appeals court on the technical grounds of standing. Judge Barbara Crabb writes in her latest ruling, “I adhere to my earlier conclusion that [the minister’s housing exclusion] violates the establishment clause because it does not have a secular purpose or effect and because a reasonable observer would view the statute as an endorsement of religion.”

Fast forward several years, and the parties and issues are very similar except that the plaintiff bringing the case (Freedom From Religion Foundation) has tried adjusting its approach to overcome the standing hurdle.

What is the immediate impact for ministers using housing allowances?

As of this publication, there is no immediate impact on ministers using the housing exclusion from their church or other employer. We are awaiting a ruling on an appeal to the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals.

The appeals court could disagree with the lower court and find the housing exclusion constitutional. In the alternative, if the lower court ruling is upheld on appeal, the district court’s ruling states it will not go into effect until 180 days after the appeals process concludes. The longer-term impact hinges on how the appeals court rules and whether additional appeals are filed in the case.

What about ministers living in parsonages?

This pending court case does not apply to Section 107(1) of the tax code. In other words, the ruling has no impact whatsoever on ministers living in church-provided housing (“parsonages”).

Tax reform—how are ministers and churches impacted? Massive new tax legislation was enacted in December 2017 with most of the changes effective for 2018 returns filed in 2019.

Most individual tax provision are temporary. They expire after 2025. Unless the provisions are extended by another Congress, the provisions will revert automatically to the rules in effect for 2017.

The most significant issues for ministers are:

- The standard deduction nearly doubled to $24,000 for couples, $12,000 for singles, and $18,000 for household heads. Those age 65 or up and blind people get $1,250 more per person. Given these much higher amounts, it is a sure thing that fewer ministers will itemize their deductions for 2018.
  - Personal exemptions for individual filers and their dependents are repealed.
  - The new law pares back or axes many deductions claimed by ministers:
    - The popular deduction for state and local taxes is squeezed. You can now deduct any combination of residential property taxes and income or sales taxes up to a $10,000 cap.

- o Deductions for job-related moves are gone. If moving expenses are reimbursed by an employer, the amount is taxable income.
  - o All miscellaneous write-offs on Schedule A subject to the 2%-of-adjusted gross income threshold are eliminated. This includes unreimbursed employee business expenses, tax return preparation costs, theft losses, and more. Note: Ministers should be sure their church-related expenses are reimbursed under an accountable plan. Unreimbursed expenses will have absolutely no value for 2018 and later years.
  - o Medical expense deductions are enhanced. The new law temporarily lowers the adjusted gross income threshold for deducting 2018 medical expense on Schedule A from 10% to 7.5%.
- The law keeps seven tax brackets, but with different rates and break points.
  - The penalty for the individual mandate under the Affordable Care Act has been eliminated.
  - The child tax credit is doubled to $2,000 for each dependent under age 17, with up to $1,400 of the credit refundable to lower-income taxpayers, and it is available to many more taxpayers.

Get the Big Picture

Six special tax provisions are available only to individuals who qualify as “ministers” under federal tax rules and who perform services that qualify in the exercise of ministry under federal tax rules.

Special Tax Provisions for Ministers

1. Exclusion of the housing allowance for income tax purposes and the fair rental value of a church-owned parsonage provided rent-free to ministers.
2. Exemption of ministers from self-employment social security tax under very limited circumstances.
3. For social security tax purposes, treatment of ministers as self-employed as it relates to income from ministerial services.
4. Exemption of ministers’ compensation from mandatory income tax withholding.
5. Eligibility for a voluntary income tax withholding arrangement between minister-employees and the church.
6. Potential “double deduction” of mortgage interest and real estate taxes as itemized deductions and as excludable housing expenses for housing allowance purposes for ministers living in minister-provided housing.

Remember

The major tax benefit for most ministers is the special housing allowance treatment.

Remember

There is some flexibility in applying certain ministerial tax provisions. For example, ministers are exempt from mandatory income tax withholding but can enter into a voluntary income tax withholding arrangement. However, if ministers qualify for the housing allowance, self-employment social security tax (using Schedule SE) applies, not FICA—this is not optional.

When it comes to who should be considered a minister for tax purposes, the opinion of the IRS (based on tax law) is the only one that counts. The opinion of the worker or employer is not important. But unfortunately even the IRS does not seem to consistently apply the same rules in determining who is a minister.

Classification as a minister for tax purposes is very important. It determines how a minister prepares the tax return for income and social security tax purposes. For example, a qualified minister is eligible for the housing allowance. This alone can exclude thousands of dollars from income taxation. Also, ministers calculate self-employment social security tax on Schedule SE and pay the tax with Form 1040. Nonministers have one-half of their social security (FICA) tax withheld from salary payments, and the employer pays the other half.

According to tax law, there is a two-step process for determining whether the special tax provisions available to ministers apply to a particular worker. The first is whether the individual qualifies as a minister. The second is whether the minister is performing ministerial services.

Caution

Determination of ministerial status is far from a precise matter. Only a review of all the pertinent facts and circumstances for a particular minister will assist in determining whether an individual will qualify for ministerial tax status.

● Ministers Serving Local Churches

If you are employed by a church and are ordained, commissioned, or licensed and meet the following four tests, the IRS will generally consider you a minister. You

- administer the sacraments,
- are considered to be a religious leader by your church,
- conduct worship services, and
- have management responsibility in the control, conduct, or maintenance of your church.

Based on guidelines issued by the IRS, some of the four tests, but not necessarily all, must be met in determining ministerial status. This flexible approach is beneficial to many ministers because some positions relating to music, education, youth, or administration will not meet all four tests.

There is no requirement that you must be qualified to perform and actually perform every sacrament. If you are qualified to perform certain sacraments and actually perform or could perform some of the sacraments on occasion, you will generally meet this test. A similar test applies to conducting religious worship and providing management services. If you currently conduct religious worship and provide management services, have done it in the past, or could do it in the future, the test will generally be met.

Job titles have little significance for tax purposes. A licensed, commissioned, or ordained minister may have a job title that implies a ministry function. However, the actual responsibilities of the position will determine if the four-factor test above is met (see above). Ministers performing services of a routine nature, such as those performed by secretaries, clerks, and janitors, generally do not qualify as a minister for tax purposes.

Because of the inconsistency of these rulings, ministers serving in a local church who do not clearly meet all four factors should review these matters with a qualified professional adviser before filing income tax returns.

● Ministers in Denominational, Administrative, and Teaching Positions

Ordained, commissioned, or licensed ministers not serving local churches may qualify as “ministers” for federal tax purposes in the following situations:

Denominational service

This category encompasses the administration of religious denominations and their integral agencies, including teaching or administration in parochial schools, colleges, or universities that are under the authority of a church or denomination.

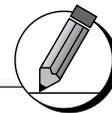

The IRS uses the following criteria to determine if an institution is an integral agency of a church:

- Did the church incorporate the institution?
- Does the corporate name of the institution suggest a church relationship?

Warning

Individuals serving local churches must meet certain tests to qualify as a minister in the eyes of the IRS. The individual should generally be ordained, licensed, or commissioned.

Tip

Ministers employed by institutions that are an “integral agency” of a religious denomination are subject to special tax treatment if their position is in a teaching or administrative area.

- Does the church continuously control, manage, and maintain the institution?
- If dissolved, will the assets be turned over to the church?
- Are the trustees or directors of the institution appointed by, or must they be approved by, the church and may they be removed by the church?
- Does the church require annual reports of finances and general operations?
- Does the church contribute to the support of the institution?

Assignment by a church to another parachurch ministry

Services performed by a minister for a parachurch organization based upon a substantive assignment or designation by a church may provide the basis for ministerial tax treatment. The housing allowance should be designated by the employing organization, not the assigning church.

The following characteristics must be present for an effective assignment:

- A sufficient relationship must exist between the minister and the assigning church to justify the assignment of the minister.
- An adequate relationship must exist between the assigning church and the parachurch organization to which the minister is assigned to justify the assignment.

To substantiate the relationship between the minister and the church, the church must determine “if there is sufficient authority, power, or legitimacy for the church to assign this particular minister.” Such matters as being the ordaining church, providing ongoing supervision, denominational affiliation, contributing significant financial support, or being the long-term “home church” would all appear to support this relationship.

In addressing the relationship between the church and the parachurch organization, the church must answer the question “why the church should assign a minister to this particular ministry.” Essentially, the assignment of the minister must accomplish the ministry purposes of the church.

In considering an assignment, it is important to distinguish between the process of assigning and the documentation of the assignment. The process of assigning expresses the church’s theology, philosophy, and policy of operation—its way of doing ministry. The documentation of the assignment provides evidence that the church is providing ministry through the particular individual assigned.

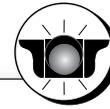

The following are keys to a proper assignment:

- A written policy describing the specific requirements for the relationship of the church both to the minister being assigned and to the parachurch organization to which the minister is assigned. This would include the church’s theological and policy goals for the assignment.
  - A formal review to confirm the qualifications of the minister and the proposed ministry with a parachurch organization.
  - A written assignment coupled with guidelines explaining how the church should supervise the minister and how the parachurch organization should report to the church.
  - A periodic (at least annual) formal review of the minister’s activities to confirm that the assignment continues to comply with the policy.

● Social Security Status of Ministers

Ministers engaged in the exercise of ministry are always treated as self-employed for social security tax purposes. Ministers pay social security under the Self-Employment Contributions Act (SECA) instead of the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA). It is possible to become exempt from SECA only if a minister meets strict exemption requirements. The request for exemption must be filed using Form 4361 within a specified time from the beginning of ministry. The request for exemption must be approved by the IRS (see page 33).

Earnings that are not from the exercise of ministry are generally subject to social security tax under FICA or SECA as applied to all workers.

Caution

Social security is one of the most confusing issues for many ministers. FICA-type social security never applies to an individual who qualifies as a minister for tax purposes. Stated another way, if a housing allowance has been designated for a minister, FICA tax should not be deducted from pay—the minister is responsible to determine social security tax by completing Schedule SE each year.

● Income Tax Status of Ministers

Are ministers employees or self-employed (independent contractors) for income tax purposes? The IRS considers virtually all ministers to be employees for income tax purposes. The income tax filing status has many ramifications for what and how churches and ministers report to the IRS.

The IRS often applies a common-law test to decide whether ministers are employees or self-employed for income tax purposes. Generally, a minister is an employee if the employer has the legal right to control both what the minister does and how it is done, even if the minister has considerable discretion and freedom of action. However, ministers who are employees of a church for income tax purposes may also be self-employed for income tax purposes with respect to certain services (baptisms, marriages, and funerals).

Determining if you are an employee or self-employed for income tax purposes will determine several other tax-related issues:

- ❑ Minister-employees must be given Form W-2 and report their compensation on page 1 of Form 1040. Expenses reimbursed under a nonaccountable plan must be included in compensation on Form W-2.
- ❑ Accident, long-term care insurance, and qualified group health insurance premiums paid directly by a church or reimbursed by a church, after the minister provides substantiation, are not reportable as income to the minister-employee but must be reported as taxable income to the self-employed minister.

Minister-employees may deduct health, accident, and long-term care insurance premiums paid personally, and not reimbursed by the church, on Schedule A as a medical and dental expense, subject to a limitation of adjusted gross income (7.5% for 2018 and 10% for 2019 and beyond).

Caution

The IRS considers virtually all ministers as employees for income tax purposes. Employee income tax status actually is very beneficial to most ministers. Many fringe benefits are tax-free only to employees.

Key Issue

The defining court case on the topic of income tax status for ministers was a 1994 case in which a Methodist cleric took the position he was self-employed for income tax purposes. The Tax Court held that he was an employee for income tax purposes. A federal appeals court upheld the decision.

The impact of a minister being considered self-employed for income tax purposes is generally very significant even if only health insurance is considered. Reporting these premiums as taxable (minister-employee) versus tax-free (self-employed minister for income purposes) can impact the minister's tax bill by thousands of dollars. If health insurance premiums are included in taxable income, a low-income minister might also have his or her earned income tax credit reduced or eliminated.

- Health savings accounts, health reimbursement arrangements, or flexible spending accounts are only available to ministers who are employees for income tax purposes.
- Group-term life insurance of $50,000 or less provided by a church is tax-free to minister-employees but represents taxable income for self-employed ministers.
- A voluntary arrangement to withhold income tax may be used by minister-employees but may not be used by the self-employed.

● Recommended Filing Status

Nearly every minister serving a local church qualifies as an employee for income tax purposes. It is wise to file as an employee for income tax purposes, unless the minister can clearly demonstrate that self-employed status is appropriate. Few ministers can substantiate filing as self-employed for income tax purposes.

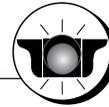

Even though ministers may take exception to the reporting of the church, the church has a responsibility under the law to determine the proper filing method and to proceed accordingly.

● Evangelists and Missionaries

The qualifications of itinerant evangelists for the special ministerial tax provisions are generally the same as for ministers serving local churches.

Most evangelists are self-employed both for income tax and self-employment social security tax purposes. The only exception is the evangelist who has formed a corporation and is an employee of the corporation. In this instance, the evangelist is an employee for income tax purposes, but remains self-employed for social security tax purposes.

Missionaries are also subject to the same rules to qualify for ministerial status for tax purposes. Qualifying for benefits such as a housing allowance is often not so important for minister-missionaries because of the foreign earned income exclusion. However, the question of ministerial tax status is vitally important to determine if ministers are subject to social security as employees or as self-employed persons. The foreign-earned income exclusion affects income tax but not social security tax.

Caution

With rare exceptions, ministers should receive Form W-2 from their church or other employer. Few ministers qualify as independent contractors for income tax purposes (even though considered self-employed for social security tax purposes). A church or other employer generally has sufficient control over the minister to qualify for W-2 treatment.

Key Issue

It is vital for churches to treat ministers as employees (Form W-2) for income tax purposes in nearly every instance. If ministers are not considered employees for income tax purposes, it jeopardizes the tax-free treatment of fringe benefits like health, accident, and long-term care insurance premiums, group-term life premiums, and certain other fringe benefits.

The Best Friend of Ministers

Nearly all ministers should have a portion of salary designated as a housing allowance. Maximizing housing benefits requires careful planning. For ministers living in church-owned housing, a housing allowance that covers expenses such as furnishings, personal property insurance on contents, utilities, and so on could save several hundred dollars of income taxes annually. A properly designated housing allowance may be worth thousands of dollars in tax savings for ministers living in their own homes or rented quarters. For ministers without a housing allowance, every dollar of compensation is taxable for federal income tax purposes.

The housing allowance provides an opportunity to exclude dollars from gross income. The designated housing allowance should be subtracted from compensation before the church completes the data on Form W-2. The housing allowance designation is not entered on Form 1040 or related schedules, except Schedule SE, since it is not a deduction for income tax purposes. However, any unused portion of the housing designation must be reported as income on page 2, Form 1040.

If the church properly designates a portion of a minister's cash salary for expenses of a home provided by the minister, the exclusion is commonly referred to as a housing allowance. If the church properly designates a portion of the cash salary for expenses incurred in relation to church-provided housing, the exclusion is often called a parsonage allowance. In either instance, it is an exclusion from income tax, not self-employment tax.

Ministers are eligible to exclude the fair rental value of church-provided housing for income tax purposes without any official action by the church. However, a cash housing allowance related to church-provided or minister-provided housing is only excludable under the following rules:

- The allowance must be officially designated by the church. The designation should be stated in writing, preferably by resolution of the top governing body, in an employment contract, or—at a minimum—in the church budget and payroll records. If the only reference to the housing allowance is in the church budget, the budget should be formally approved by the top governing body of the church.

Tax law does not specifically say an oral designation of the housing allowance is unacceptable. In certain instances, the IRS has accepted an oral housing designation. Still, the use of a written designation is preferable and highly recommended. The lack of a written designation significantly weakens the defense for the housing exclusion upon audit.

- The housing allowance must be designated prospectively by the church. Cash housing allowance payments made prior to a designation of the housing allowance are fully taxable for income tax purposes. Carefully word the resolution so that it will remain in effect until a subsequent resolution is adopted (see the examples on page 15).
- Only actual expenses can be excluded from income. The source of the funds used to pay the minister's housing expenses must be compensation earned by the minister in the exercise of ministry in the current year.
- Only an annual comparison by ministers of housing expenses to the housing allowance is required. For example, if the housing allowance designation is stated in terms of a weekly or monthly amount, only a comparison of actual housing expenses to the annualized housing allowance is required.
- The housing allowance exclusion cannot exceed the fair rental value of the housing, plus utilities.

● Types of Housing Arrangements

Ministers Living in a Parsonage Owned by or Rented by a Church

If a minister lives in a church-owned parsonage or housing rented by the church, the fair rental value of the housing is not reported for income tax purposes. The fair rental value is subject only to self-employment tax.

A minister may request a housing allowance to cover expenses incurred in maintaining the church-owned or rented housing. Examples of allowable expenses are utilities, repairs, furnishings, and appliances. If the actual expenses exceed the housing allowance designated by the church, the excess amount cannot be excluded from income.

It is appropriate for minister's out-of-pocket expenses for the maintenance of a church-owned parsonage to be reimbursed by the church if a full accounting is made. Such reimbursements do not relate to a housing allowance. If such expenses are not reimbursed, they could be excludable from income under a housing allowance.

If the church owns the parsonage, the church may wish to provide an equity allowance to help compensate ministers for equity not accumulated through home ownership. An equity allowance is taxable both for income and social security tax purposes, unless directed to a 403(b) tax-sheltered annuity or certain other retirement programs.

Ministers Owning or Renting Their Own Home

If a minister owns or rents a home, the minister may exclude, for income tax purposes, a cash housing allowance that is not more than reasonable pay for services and is the lowest of (1) the amount used to provide a home from current church income, (2) the amount prospectively and officially designated, or (3) the fair rental value of the furnished home, plus utilities.

Many ministers make the mistake of automatically excluding from income, for income tax purposes, the total designated housing allowance, even though the fair rental value of the furnished home or actual housing expenses are less than the designation. This practice may cause a significant underpayment of income taxes.

Example: A minister lives in a personally owned home. The church prospectively designated $28,000 of the salary as housing allowance. The minister spends $27,000 for housing-related items. The fair rental value of the home is $29,000.

Since the amount spent is lower than the designated housing allowance or the fair rental value, the excludable housing is $27,000. Therefore, $1,000 ($28,000 less $27,000) must be added to taxable income on Form 1040, page 2, line 1. Unless the minister has opted out of social security, the entire $28,000 is reportable for social security purposes on Schedule SE.

● Designating the Housing Allowance

The following steps are often followed in designating and excluding the housing allowance:

1. A minister estimates the housing-related expenses to be spent in the coming year and presents this information to the church.

Tip

The designation of a housing allowance for ministers living in church-provided housing is often overlooked. While the largest housing allowance benefits go to ministers with mortgage payments on their own homes, a housing allowance of a few thousand dollars is often beneficial to ministers in a church-provided home.

2. The church then adopts a written housing allowance designation based on the estimate.
3. At the close of the tax year, the minister who provides his or her own housing compares the amount designated for housing, the housing expenses substantiated, and the fair rental value of the home including furnishings and utilities. The lower of these amounts is excluded for income tax purposes. Ministers living in church-provided housing must compare the amount designated and actual housing expenses and exclude the lower of the two amounts.

Remember

The housing allowance designation may be prospectively amended at any time during the year, regardless of whether the church uses a calendar or fiscal year. Changing the designation to cover expenses that have already been paid (almost all ministers use the cash basis for tax purposes) is not acceptable.

Designation Limits

The IRS does not place a limit on how much of ministerial compensation may be designated as a housing allowance by the employing church. But practical and reasonable limits usually apply.

Unless the amount is justified based on anticipated expenses and is within the fair rental value limit, it is generally inadvisable for the church to exclude 100% of compensation.

It is often best for the church to overdesignate your parsonage allowance by a reasonable amount, subject to the fair rental value test, to allow for unexpected expenses and increases in utility costs. Any excess housing allowance designated should be shown as income on line 7 of Form 1040.

● Reporting the Housing Allowance to Ministers

The designated housing allowance may be reflected for minister-employees on Form W-2 in Box 14 with the notation, "Housing Allowance." Though not required, this reporting method is suggested by Publication 517. Or, churches can report the designated housing allowance to ministers by providing a statement separate from Form W-2. This may be in a memo or letter. The statement should not be attached to your income tax returns.

Your church may erroneously include the housing allowance on Form W-2, Box 1. If this happens, the church should prepare a corrected Form W-2.

● Accounting for the Housing Allowance*Determining Fair Rental Value

The determination of the fair rental value of church-provided housing for self-employment social security purposes is solely the responsibility of ministers. The church is not responsible to set the value. The fair rental value should be based on comparable rental values of other similar residences in the immediate neighborhood or community, comparably furnished.

One of the best methods to use in establishing fair rental value of your housing is to request a local realtor to estimate the value in writing. Place the estimate in your tax file and annually adjust the value for inflation and other local real estate valuation factors.

Housing Allowance in Excess of Actual Expenses or Fair Rental Value

Some ministers erroneously believe that they may exclude every dollar of the housing designation adopted by the church without limitation. The housing designation is merely the starting point. If reasonable compensation, actual expenses, or the fair rental value is lower, the lowest amount is eligible for exclusion from income.

Example: A minister living in a personally owned home receives cash compensation of $60,000 from the church. The church prospectively designates $25,000 as a housing allowance. The fair rental value is $26,000. Actual housing expenses for the year are $24,000. The amount excludable from income is limited to the actual housing expenses of $24,000.

Actual Expenses in Excess of the Designated Housing Allowance or Fair Rental Value

Actual housing expenses that exceed the designated housing allowance are not excludable from income. There are no provisions to carry over “unused” housing expenses to the next year.

Example: A minister living in a personally owned home receives cash compensation of $60,000 from the church. The church prospectively designates $30,000 of the $60,000 as a housing allowance. Actual housing expenses for the year are $50,000. The fair rental value is $28,000. The expenses were unusually high because of a down payment on that house. The amount excludable from income is limited to the fair rental value of $28,000. There is no carryover of the $22,000 ($50,000 less $28,000) of actual expenses in excess of the designated housing allowance to the next tax year.

● Housing Allowances for Retired Ministers

Pension payments, retirement allowances, or disability payments paid to retired ministers from an established plan are generally taxable as pension income. However, denominations often designate a housing allowance for retired ministers to compensate them for past services to local churches of the denomination or in denominational administrative positions. The housing allowance designated relates only to payments from the denominationally sponsored retirement program.

Withdrawals from a denominationally sponsored 403(b), also called a tax-sheltered annuity (TSA), or 401(k) plan qualify for designation as a housing allowance. Withdrawals from a 403(b) or 401(k) plan not sponsored by a local church are not eligible for designation as a housing allowance. Retired ministers may also exclude the rental value of a home furnished by a church or a rental allowance paid by a church as compensation for past services.

If a denomination or organization reports the gross amount of pension or TSA payments on Form 1099-R and designates the housing allowance, the minister may offset the housing expenses and reflect the net amount on page 1, Form 1040. A supplementary schedule such as the following example should be attached to the tax return:

Pensions and annuity income (Form 1040, line 4a)	$ 10,000
Less housing exclusion	8,000
Form 1040, line 4b	$ 2,000

Remember

Payments from denominational retirement plans are generally allowed to be designated as a housing allowance. While a local church may designate a housing allowance for a retired minister, it is unclear if the IRS will honor the designation on the minister’s tax return.

For retired ministers, the amount excluded for income tax purposes is limited to the lowest of (1) the amount used to provide a home, (2) the properly designated housing allowance, or (3) the fair rental value of the furnished home, plus utilities.

Housing Allowance Resolutions

Parsonage owned by or rented by a church

Whereas, the Internal Revenue Code permits ministers to exclude from gross income “the rental value of a home furnished as part of compensation” or a church-designated allowance paid as a part of compensation to the extent that actual expenses are paid from the allowance to maintain a parsonage owned or rented by the church;

Whereas, the church compensates (insert name) for services in the exercise of ministry; and

Whereas, the church provides (insert name) with rent-free use of a parsonage owned by (rented by) the church as a portion of the compensation for services rendered to the church in the exercise of ministry;

Resolved, That the compensation of (insert name) is $4,500 per month, of which $2,000 per month is a designated housing allowance; and

Resolved, That the designation of $2,000 per month as a housing allowance shall apply until otherwise provided.

Home owned or rented by ministers

Whereas, the Internal Revenue Code permits a minister to exclude from gross income a church-designated allowance paid as part of compensation to the extent used for actual expenses in owning or renting a home; and

Whereas, the church compensates (insert name) for services in the exercise of ministry;

Resolved, That the compensation of (insert name) is $4,500 per month, of which $2,000 per month is a designated housing allowance; and

Resolved, That the designation of $2,000 per month as a housing allowance shall apply until otherwise provided.

Evangelists

Whereas, the Internal Revenue Code permits ministers to exclude from gross income a church-designated allowance paid as part of compensation to the extent used in owning or renting a permanent home; and

Whereas, the church compensates (insert name) for services in the exercise of ministry as an evangelist;

Resolved, That the honorarium paid to (insert name) shall be $1,512, consisting of $312 for travel expenses (with documentation provided to the church), $500 for housing allowance, and a $700 honorarium.

More Than Meets the Eye

Ask most ministers how much they are paid, and the response will often be “My check from the church is $1,000 a week.” But that tells us very little. Not only is your salary subject to tax, but so are many fringe benefits that you may receive.

What are fringe benefits? A fringe benefit is any cash, property, or service that ministers receive from the church in addition to salary. The term “fringe benefits” is really a misnomer because ministers have come to depend on them as a part of the total compensation package. All fringe benefits are taxable income to ministers unless specifically exempted by the Internal Revenue Code.

Many fringe benefits can be provided by a church to a minister without any dollar limitation (qualified health insurance is an example), while other fringe benefits are subject to annual limits (dependent care is an example). A brief discussion of some of the key fringe benefits follows.

● Tax Treatment of Compensation Elements

- Business and professional expenses reimbursed with adequate accounting. If the church reimburses ministers under an accountable plan for employment-related professional or business expenses (for example, auto, other travel, subscriptions, and entertainment), the reimbursement is not taxable compensation and is not reported to the IRS by the church or ministers. Per diem reimbursements up to IRS-approved limits also qualify as excludable reimbursements.
- Business and professional expense payments without adequate accounting. Many churches pay periodic allowances or reimbursements to ministers for business expenses with no requirement to account adequately for the expenses. These payments do not meet the requirements of an accountable expense reimbursement plan.

Allowances or reimbursements under a nonaccountable plan must be included in a minister’s taxable income on Form W-2, and there is no income tax deduction for unreimbursed business expenses.

- Cell phones. Cell phones and similar devices provided to employees are excludable from an employee’s income as a fringe benefit and are not subject to stringent recordkeeping requirements in certain situations. The cell phones must be provided for “substantial reasons relating to the employer’s business, other than providing compensation to the employee.” Cell phones provided for employee morale or goodwill, or to recruit prospective employees, are not provided for “noncompensatory business purposes.”

If the organization does not have a substantial noncompensatory business reason for providing a cell phone to an employee, or reimbursing the employee for business use of his or her personal cell phone, the value of the use of the phone or the amount of the reimbursement is includible in gross income, reportable on Forms 941 and W-2, and for lay employees is subject to employment tax withholding.

- Club dues and memberships. Dues for professional organizations (such as ministerial associations) or public service organizations (such as Kiwanis, Rotary, and Lions Clubs) are generally reimbursable.

Other club dues are generally not reimbursable (including any club organized for business, pleasure, recreation, or other social purposes). If the church pays the health, fitness, or athletic facility dues for a minister, the amounts paid are generally fully includible in the minister’s income as additional compensation.

- Computers. The value of the personal use of a church-provided computer may qualify as a nontaxable fringe benefit if the personal use is minimal or infrequent. Otherwise, the personal use must be valued and reported as taxable income on Form W-2.
- Disability insurance. If the church pays the disability insurance premiums (and the minister is named as the beneficiary) as a part of the compensation package, the premiums are excluded from income. However, any disability policy proceeds must be included in gross income. This is based on who paid the premiums for the policy covering the year when the disability started. If the premiums are shared between the church and a minister, then the benefits are taxable in the same proportion as the payment of the premiums.

Conversely, if you pay the disability insurance premiums or have the church withhold the premiums from your salary, you receive no current deduction and any disability benefits paid under the policy are not taxable to you.

A third option is for the church to pay the disability premiums. But instead of treating the premiums as tax-free, the church treats the premiums as additional ministerial compensation. Benefits you receive under this option are tax-free.

- Educational reimbursement plans. If your church requires you to take educational courses or if you take job-related courses, and your church either pays the expenses directly to the educational organization or reimburses you for the expenses after you make a full accounting, you may not have to include in income the amount paid by your church.

While there are no specific dollar limits on educational expenses paid under a nonqualified reimbursement plan, the general ordinary and necessary business expense rules do apply. These types of payments may be discriminatory.

Though the education may lead to a degree, expenses may be deductible or reimbursable if the education:

- is required by your church to keep your salary, status, or job (and serves a business purpose of your church), or
- maintains or improves skills required in your present employment.

Even though the above requirements are met, expenses do not qualify if the education is:

- required to meet the minimum educational requirements of your present work, or
- part of a program of study that will qualify you for a new occupation.

- Entertainment expenses. Entertainment expenses that represent an ordinary and necessary business expense generally qualify for reimbursement under an accountable business expense reimbursement plan.
- Flexible spending account (FSA). “Cafeteria” (called cafeteria plans because a person can choose among several benefit options) or FSAs are plans used to reimburse the employee for certain personal expenses. They are provided by employers to pre-fund dependent care, medical, or dental expenses (often called a healthcare flexible spending account) in pre-tax dollars.

Idea

Statistics suggest that ministers are seven times more likely to need disability insurance than life insurance before age 65. When a church provides the maximum disability insurance as a tax-free benefit, it can reduce the awkwardness of a minister’s transition relating to disability while serving the church.

A cafeteria or flexible spending plan cannot discriminate in favor of highly compensated participants for contributions, benefits, or eligibility to participate in the plan. While only larger churches generally offer cafeteria plans because of plan complexity and cost, many churches could feasibly offer an FSA.

The money is the account holder's to use during the plan year. Ultimately the employer owns the account and any unused balance at the end of the plan year or any administrative grace period is forfeited to the employer.

An administrative grace period may be adopted as a way to provide relief without running afoul of the prohibition on deferred compensation. Under this provision, employees are permitted a grace period of 2½ months immediately following the end of the plan year. Expenses for qualified benefits incurred during the grace period may be paid or reimbursed from benefits or contributions remaining unused at the end of the plan year. There is also the option of rolling over any unused FSA dollars into the next plan year, but this option is subject to a $500 limit.

- Health insurance. If the church pays a minister-employee's qualified group health insurance premiums directly to the insurance carrier, the premiums are tax-free to the minister. However, if similar payments are made for a minister whom the church considers to be self-employed for income tax purposes, the payments represent additional taxable income.
- Health savings account (HSA). HSAs are individual, portable, tax-free, interest-bearing accounts (typically held by a bank or insurance company) through which individuals with a high-deductible health plan (HDHP) save for medical expenses. The purpose of an HSA is to pay what basic coverage would ordinarily pay.

Warning

Consult with your ministry's professional tax advisors before reimbursing medical expenses for employees. Under changes brought by the Affordable Care Act, non-compliant reimbursements may result in penalties of $100 per employee per day.

Within limits, HSA contributions made by employers are excludable from income tax and social security wages and do not affect the computation of the earned income credit. HSA contributions may not be funded through salary reduction. Earnings on amounts in an HSA are not currently taxable, and HSA distributions used to pay for medical expenses are not taxable.

Funding of an HSA by the employer may fluctuate from one month to the next. This is unlike a cafeteria or flexible spending account, under which changes in contributions are generally only available on each January 1.

Only employees who are enrolled in qualifying high-deductible plans may participate in an HSA. A state high-risk health insurance plan (high-risk pool) qualifies as an HDHP if it does not pay benefits below the minimum annual deductible under the HSA rules.

HSA withdrawals do not qualify to cover over-the-counter medications (other than insulin or doctor-prescribed medicine). Additionally, there is an excise tax for nonqualified HSA withdrawals (withdrawals not used for qualified medical expenses) of 20%.

- Life insurance/group-term. If the group life coverage provided under a nondiscriminatory plan does not exceed $50,000 for ministers, the life insurance premiums are generally tax-free to minister-employees. Group-term life insurance coverage of more than $50,000 provided to a minister by the church is taxable under somewhat favorable IRS tables.

► Retirement plans

□ 457 deferred compensation plans (also known as Rabbi Trusts or Top Hat plans).

Churches may make cash contributions to 457 deferred compensation plans to fund their future obligation to pay deferred compensation benefits. The funds contributed are tax deferred in a similar manner to other tax deferred vehicles such as a 403(b) plan.

In some instances, depending on a participant’s includible income (generally, includible income is a participant’s salary without including parsonage), churches can make contributions that exceed the IRS maximum annual contribution limits for a 403(b) plan.

These plans are intended to provide a degree of certainty that accumulated deferred compensation benefits will actually be paid. Amounts contributed to an irrevocable plan should not revert to the church until all nonqualified deferred compensation benefits have been paid to eligible participants.

Because trust assets are subject to the claims of the church’s creditors in the case of insolvency or bankruptcy, the creation of a 457 plan does not cause the arrangement to be treated as “funded” for income tax purposes.

Distribution rules for 457 plans are not as flexible as for 403(b) accounts. For example, money in a 457 plan is not eligible to be rolled over into qualified retirement plans such as 403(b) plans or IRAs.

□ Individual retirement accounts. Amounts contributed by a church for a minister-employee’s Individual Retirement Account (IRA) are includible in the employee’s compensation on the Form W-2 and are subject to self-employment tax. IRA contributions may fall into one of the following categories:

- Contributions to a regular IRA. Each spouse may, in the great majority of cases, make deductible contributions to his or her IRA up to the dollar limitation (e.g., $5,500 reduced by adjusted gross income limits). The adjusted gross income phaseout ranges for 2019 are $103,000 to $123,000 for married taxpayers and $64,000 to $74,000 for singles. (The phaseout amounts are different if the minister-employee is not an active participant but his or her spouse is.) Catch-up contributions of $1,000 may be made by taxpayers age 50 and over.
- Contributions to a Roth IRA. Nondeductible contributions may be made to a Roth IRA. The buildup of interest and dividends within the account may be tax-free depending on how and when you withdraw the money from the account.

□ Keogh plans. If a minister has self-employment income for income tax purposes, a Keogh plan (also called “qualified retirement plans”) may be used. Amounts contributed to a Keogh plan are not taxed until distribution if the contribution limits are observed. If a minister withdraws money from a Keogh plan before reaching the age of 59½, the minister will be subject to a 10% early withdrawal penalty.

Caution

An allowance to cover the minister’s self-employment social security tax provides absolutely no tax benefit since the amount is fully taxable. However, paying at least one-half of the minister’s social security tax is important so this amount can be properly shown as a fringe benefit for compensation analysis purposes.

- Social security tax reimbursement. Churches commonly reimburse ministers for a portion or all of their self-employment social security (SECA) tax liability. Any social security reimbursement must be reported as taxable income.

Because of the deductibility of the self-employment tax in both the income tax and self-employment tax computations, a full reimbursement is effectively less than the gross 15.3% rate.

- Tuition and fee discounts. If you are an employee of a church-operated elementary, secondary, or undergraduate institution, certain tuition and fee discounts provided to a minister, spouse, or dependent children are generally tax-free. The discounts must be nondiscriminatory and relate to an educational program.

If you are employed by the church and not by the church-related or church-operated private school, any tuition and fee discounts that you receive are taxable income.

- Vehicles/personal use of church-owned vehicle. The personal use of a church-provided vehicle is considered a taxable fringe benefit. The fair market value of the personal use must be included in the minister's gross income, unless the full value is reimbursed to the church.

How Much Are They Worth?

Most ministers spend several thousand dollars each year on church-related business expenses. For example, the ministry-related portion of auto expenses is often a major cost.

Business and professional expenses fall into three basic categories: (1) expenses reimbursed under an accountable plan, (2) expenses paid under a nonaccountable plan, and (3) unreimbursed expenses. Neither of the last two categories provide any income tax benefit to a minister.

The reimbursement of an expense never changes the character of the item from personal to business. Business expenses are business whether or not they are reimbursed. Personal expenses are always nondeductible and nonreimbursable. If a personal expense is inadvertently reimbursed by the church, ministers should immediately refund the money to the church.

To be reimbursable, a business expense must be both ordinary and necessary. An ordinary expense is one that is common and accepted in your field. A necessary expense is one that is helpful and appropriate for your field. An expense does not have to be indispensable to be considered necessary.

Key Issue

Combining an accountable expense reimbursement plan with a housing allowance or health reimbursement arrangement (or any other fringe benefit plan) is not permissible. These concepts are each covered under separate sections of the tax law and cannot be commingled.

● Accountable and Nonaccountable Expense Reimbursement Plans

An accountable plan is a reimbursement or expense allowance arrangement established by your church that requires (1) a business purpose for the expenses, (2) substantiation of the expenses to the church, and (3) the return of any excess reimbursements.

The substantiation of expenses and return of excess reimbursements must be handled within a reasonable time. The following methods meet the “reasonable time” definition:

- The fixed date method applies if:
  - an advance is made within 30 days of when an expense is paid or incurred;
  - an expense is substantiated to the church within 60 days after the expense is paid or incurred; and
  - any excess amount is returned to the church within 120 days after the expense is paid or incurred.
- The periodic statement method applies if:
  - the church provides employees with a periodic statement that sets forth the amount paid that is more than substantiated expenses under the arrangement;
  - the statements are provided at least quarterly;
  - the church requests that ministers provide substantiation for any additional expenses that have not yet been substantiated and/or return any amounts remaining unsubstantiated within 120 days of the statement.

Expenses that are substantiated and reimbursed are not included on Form W-2 or deducted on your tax return. Expenses that are not substantiated and reimbursed cannot be deducted for income tax purposes.

The IRS disallows deductions for a portion of unreimbursed business expenses on the premise that the expenses can be allocated to your tax-exempt housing allowance (see page 29). This is another reason that all ministers should comply with the accountable expense reimbursement rules. The goal should be to eliminate all unreimbursed business expenses.

Nonaccountable Expense Reimbursement Plans

If you do not substantiate your business expenses to the church, or if the amount of the reimbursement exceeds your actual expenses and the excess is not returned to the church within a reasonable period, your tax life becomes more complicated.

If your church pays you an “allowance” for business expenses, it represents taxable compensation. The term “allowance” implies that the payment is not based upon documented expenses, does not meet the adequate accounting requirements for an accountable plan, and must be included in your income.

Nonaccountable reimbursements and excess reimbursements over IRS mileage or per diem limits must be included in your gross income and reported as wages on Form W-2. Unreimbursed expenses are not deductible for income tax purposes.

Warning

Many ministers are paid expense “allowances.” These payments accomplish nothing in terms of good stewardship. “Allowances” are fully taxable for income and social security tax purposes.

● Documenting Business Expenses

For expenses to be treated as reimbursable, you must show that you spent the money and that you spent it for a legitimate business reason. To prove that you spent the money, you generally need to provide documentary evidence that can be confirmed by a third party. Canceled checks, credit card statements, or other receipts are an excellent starting point. To the IRS, third-party verification is important; if business expenses are paid in cash, be sure to get a receipt.

Documenting a business expense can be time-consuming. The IRS is satisfied if you note the five Ws on the back of your credit card slip or other receipt:

- Why (business purpose)
- What (description, including itemized accounting of cost)
- When (date)
- Where (location)
- Who (names of those for whom the expense was incurred; e.g., Pastor Mark Smith)

The only exception to the documentation rules is if your individual outlays for business expenses, other than for lodging, come to less than $75. The IRS does not require receipts for such expenses, although the five Ws are still required. You always need a receipt for lodging expenses regardless of the amount. A church may apply a documentation threshold lower than $75.

Remember

When ministers provide a listing of business expenses to the church or other employer—this is only a report, not documentation. Documentary evidence is much more than a report. It involves a hard-copy support of the five Ws (why, what, when, where, and who).

● Auto Expense Reimbursements

A minister's car expenses are reimbursable to the extent they are for business (or income producing) rather than personal use. Generally, only those expenses that are necessary to drive and maintain a car that is used to go from one workplace to another are deductible.

Mileage and Actual Expense Methods

In determining the amount eligible for reimbursement for the business use of a personal car, you can use one of two methods to figure your deduction: the standard mileage rate or the actual expense method. The simplicity of the standard mileage rate method is compelling.

Standard Mileage Rate Method

If your church pays you a fixed mileage rate up to the IRS standard rate (see page 5 for rates) and you provide the church with the time, place, and business purpose of your driving, you have made an adequate accounting of your automobile expenses, qualifying for a tax-free reimbursement.

If the church does not reimburse you for auto expenses or reimburses you under a nonaccountable plan, you may not deduct the expenses for income tax purposes.

The standard mileage rate, which includes depreciation and maintenance costs, is based on the government's estimate of the average cost of operating an automobile. Depending upon the make, age, and cost of the car, the mileage rate may be more or less than your actual auto expense. If you use the mileage rate, you also may be reimbursed for parking fees, tolls, and the business portion of the personal property tax.

Commuting

Personal mileage is never reimbursable. Commuting mileage is personal mileage.

Travel to and from home and church (a regular work location) and for church services and other work at the church is commuting and is not reimbursable. The same rule applies to multiple trips made in the same day. On the other hand, the cost of traveling between your home and a temporary work location is generally reimbursable. Once you arrive at the first work location, temporary or regular, you may be reimbursed for trips between work locations.

A regular place of business is any location at which you work or perform services on a regular basis. These services may be performed every week, for example, or merely on a set schedule.

A temporary place of business is any location at which you perform services on an irregular or short-term (i.e., generally a matter of days or weeks) basis.

Documentation of Auto Expense

To support your automobile expense reimbursement, automobile expenses must be substantiated by adequate records. A weekly or monthly mileage log that identifies dates, destinations, business

Remember

The standard mileage rate may generate a lower reimbursement than using actual expenses in some instances. But the simplicity of the standard mileage method is a very compelling feature.

Remember

For your records to withstand an IRS audit, use a daily mileage log to document business vs. personal mileage. Whether you keep a notepad in the car or track the data on your smartphone, some type of log is the best approach to submitting data for reimbursement from your church.

purposes, and odometer readings in order to allocate total mileage between business and personal use is a basic necessity if you use the mileage method. If you use the actual expense method, a mileage log and supporting documentation on expenses are required.

Per diem allowance

The IRS provides per diem allowances under which the amount of away-from-home meals and lodging expenses may be substantiated. These rates may not be used to reimburse volunteers. Higher per diem rates apply to certain locations annually identified by the IRS. For more information on these rules, see IRS Publication 1542.

● Other Business and Professional Expenses

Business gifts

You may be reimbursed up to $25 per donee for business gifts to any number of individuals every year. Incidental costs, such as for engraving, gift wrapping, insurance, and mailing do not need to be included in determining whether the $25 limit has been exceeded.

The gifts must be related to your ministry. Gifts to church staff or board members would generally be deductible, subject to the $25 limit. Wedding and graduation gifts generally do not qualify as business expenses.

Cell phones

The IRS treats the value of a church-provided cell phone and similar telecommunications equipment (including the value of any personal use by the employee) as excludible from the employee's income, as long as the cell phone is provided to the employee primarily for a noncompensatory business reason (such as the employer's need to contact the employee at all times for work-related emergencies). Providing a cell phone to promote morale or goodwill, to attract a prospective employee, or to furnish additional compensation to an employee is evidence that there is no noncompensatory business reason.

Church staff may be reimbursed for the business use of a cell phone, but the church should probably require the employee to submit a copy of the monthly bill and evidence that the bill has been paid.

If a church does not have a substantial noncompensatory business reason for providing a cell phone to an employee or reimbursing the employee for business use of his or her personal cell phone, then the value of the use of the phone or the amount of the reimbursement is includible in gross income, reportable on Forms 941 and W-2, and for lay employees is subject to employment tax withholding.

Cell phones a minister owns and uses more than 50% for ministry may be depreciated for reimbursement purposes as five-year recovery property. The business portion of depreciation may be reimbursed under an accountable expense reimbursement plan, if the 50% business, "convenience of the church," and "condition of employment" tests are met.

As a minister-employee, the use of a cell phone must be for the "convenience of the church" and required as a "condition of employment." The "convenience of the church" test will generally be met if the cell phone is furnished for substantial "noncompensatory business reasons." Whether a minister (or other church employee) passes the "condition of employment" test is based on all the facts and circumstances and is not determined merely by an employer's statement that the use of the cell phone is a condition of employment.

If a minister meets the "convenience of the employer" and "condition of employment" tests but does not use the cell phone more than 50% of the time for work, he or she must depreciate it using the straight-line method. The minister may be reimbursed the business-related phone call charges and the business-related portion of the monthly fees.

Entertainment

Entertainment expenses may qualify for reimbursement under an accountable expense reimbursement plan if they represent an ordinary and necessary business expense.

Personal computers

Personal computers a minister owns and uses more than 50% for ministry may be depreciated for reimbursement purposes as five-year recovery property but no reimbursement is available under Section 179 (see next item). The business portion of depreciation may be reimbursed under an accountable expense reimbursement plan if the 50% business, "convenience of the church," and "condition of employment" tests are met (see the discussion of these topics under "Cell phones" on pages 29-30).

If a computer is provided by the church in the church office but you prefer to work at home on your personal computer, it is not being used for the church's convenience. If you meet the "convenience of the church" and "condition of employment" tests but do not use your computer (and related equipment) more than 50% of the time for your work, you must depreciate these items using the straight-line method to calculate the amount reimbursable.

Adequate records of the business use of your computer should be maintained to substantiate your deductions.

Subscriptions and books

Subscriptions to minister-related periodicals are reimbursable. If the information in a periodical relates to your ministerial preparation, that news magazine may even qualify.

The cost of books related to your ministry may be reimbursed.

● Allocation of Business Expenses

The IRS takes the position that the deduction of unreimbursed business expenses on Schedule C (C-EZ) is limited to the extent that they are allocable to an excluded housing allowance or the fair rental value of church-provided housing. The IRS applies what is often referred to as the "Deason rule" (referring to a 1964 Tax Court Memorandum).

IRS Publication 517, Social Security and Other Information for Members of the Clergy and Religious Workers, explains this topic in detail and includes the concept

Warning

If a minister purchases a computer and uses it primarily for church work and meets the "condition" and "convenience" tests, only the depreciation on the business portion of the computer can be reimbursed by the church, not the entire cost of the business portion, based on the Section 179 first-year write-off rules.

Remember

If a church provides a cell phone to an employee primarily for a noncompensatory business reason, even the personal use value of the cell phone is excludible from the employee's income.

in a completed tax return example. The most recent Tax Guide for Churches and Other Religious Organizations and Minister Audit Technique Guide, both issued by the IRS, clearly apply the expense allocation concept.

Since the housing allowance is not tax-exempt for self-employment purposes, the IRS takes the position in their Minister Audit Technique Guide that the Deason rule does not apply to the computation of a minister's self-employment taxes.

Under the IRS guidelines, if you exclude a housing allowance or are provided housing by your church, you cannot deduct expenses that are allocable to your excluded rental or parsonage allowance. Home mortgage interest and real estate taxes are still deductible on Schedule A as itemized deductions even though the same amounts are excluded for income tax purposes under the housing allowance rules.

A statement containing all the following information should be attached to your tax return:

- A list of each item of taxable ministerial income by source (such as wages, salary, honoraria from weddings, baptisms, etc.) plus the amount
- The amount of excluded housing allowance or the fair rental value of church-provided housing
- A list of each item of unreimbursed ministerial expense plus the amount
- A statement that the other deductions on your tax return are not allocable to the excluded housing allowance

This limitation requires the following calculation:

1. Housing allowance (the fair rental value of a church-provided parsonage and the housing allowance excluded from gross income; this may be less than the church-designated housing allowance) $ _____

2. Total income from ministry:

Salary (including the fair rental value of a church-provided parsonage and the housing allowance excluded from gross income)	$ _____
Fees	_____
Allowances (nonaccountable plan)	_____
		$ _____

3. Divide line 1 amount by line 2 amount = % of nontaxable income _____ %

4. Total unreimbursed business and professional expenses, less 50% of meals and entertainment expenses $ _____

5. Multiply line 4 total by line 3 percentage (these are nondeductible expenses allocable to tax-exempt income) $ _____

6. Subtract line 5 amount from line 4 amount (these are deductible expenses for federal income tax purposes on Schedule C [C-EZ]) $ _____

Income Taxes

The federal income tax is a pay-as-you-go tax. You must pay the tax as you earn or receive income during the year. Employees usually have income tax withheld from their pay. However, the pay of a qualified minister is not subject to federal income tax withholding. Ministers who are employees for income tax purposes may enter into a voluntary withholding agreement with the church to cover any income tax and self-employment social security tax that are due. IRS Publication 505 provides additional information on tax withholding and estimated taxes.

● Tax Withholding

Churches are not required to withhold income taxes from wages paid to ministers for services performed in the exercise of their ministry. The exemption does not apply to nonministerial church employees such as a secretary, organist, or custodian.

Minister-employees may have a voluntary withholding agreement with the employing church to cover income taxes (the amount may be set high enough to also cover the self-employment social security tax liability). Ministers need only file Form W-4 with the church to establish a voluntary withholding arrangement.

● Estimated Tax

Estimated tax is the method used to pay income and self-employment taxes for income that is not subject to withholding. Your estimated tax is your expected tax for the year minus your expected withholding and credits.

If you are filing a declaration of estimated tax, complete the quarterly Forms 1040-ES. If 2018 estimated taxes are $1,000 or less, no declaration of estimated tax is required.

If your estimated tax payments for 2019 equal 90% of the 2018 tax liability, you will generally avoid underpayment penalties. An option is to make the 2019 estimated tax payments equal 100% of your 2018 federal and social security taxes (Form 1040, page 2, line 15). This method generally avoids underpayment penalties and is easier to calculate.

In estimating 2019 taxes, net earnings from self-employment should be reduced by 7.65% before calculating the self-employment tax of 15.3%. There also is an income tax deduction for one-half of your self-employment tax (Form 1040, Schedule 1, line 27).

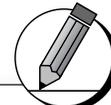

You pay one-fourth of your total estimated taxes in installments as follows:

For the Period	2019 Due Date
January 1 - March 31	April 15
April 1 - May 31	June 17
June 1 - August 31	September 16
September 1 - December 31	January 15

Idea

Though not required, churches should offer to withhold federal (and state and local, where applicable) income taxes (never FICA taxes!) from ministerial pay. Filing Forms 1040-ES often means saving up money for the 4/15, 6/15, 9/15, and 1/15 deadlines. Withholding the proper amount each week or payday is so much more efficient.

Filing Tip

When using the estimated tax method of submitting income and social security tax money to the IRS, pay at least as much as your previous year's total taxes (before offsetting withholding, estimated tax payments, etc.). Spread the payments equally over the four Forms 1040-ES. This will generally avoid underpayment penalties.

Remember

State income tax payment requirements may also be met by making estimated state tax payments.

Social Security Taxes

Social security taxes are collected under two systems. Under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA), the employer pays one-half of the tax and the employee pays the other half. Under the Self-Employment Contributions Act (SECA), the self-employed person pays all the tax (self-employment tax) as calculated on the taxpayer’s Schedule SE.

Compensation received by ministers for services performed in the exercise of ministry is self-employment income and is always subject to self-employment tax (SECA). Ministerial income is exempt from SECA only if you have opted out of social security. Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) social security tax should never be withheld from the compensation of qualified ministers.

● Opting Out of Social Security Taxes

All ministers are automatically covered by social security (SECA) for services in the exercise of ministry, unless an exemption has been received based on the filing with and approval by the IRS of Form 4361. You must certify that you oppose, either conscientiously or because of religious principles, the acceptance of any public insurance (with respect to services performed as a minister), including social security coverage. This includes an opposition to insurance that helps pay for or provides services for medical care (such as Medicare) and social security benefits. Your opinion of the financial stability of the social security program is not a valid basis to file for exemption.

Deadline for Filing for an Exemption

The application for exemption from self-employment tax must be filed by the date your tax return is due, including extensions, for the second year in which you had net ministerial income of $400 or more. These do not have to be consecutive tax years.

● Computing the Self-Employment Tax

The following tax rates apply to net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more each year:

Year	Tax Rate		Maximum Earnings Base
	OASDI	Medicare	OASDI	Medicare
2017	12.4%	2.9%	$127,200	no limit
2018	12.4%	2.9%	128,400	no limit
2019	12.4%	2.9%	132,900	no limit

OASDI = Old-age, survivors, and disability insurance, or social security

● Self-Employment Tax Deductions

You can take an income tax deduction equal to one-half of your self-employment tax liability. The deduction is claimed against gross income on line 27 of Form 1040, Schedule 1. You may also deduct a portion of your self-employment tax liability in calculating your self-employment tax. This deduction is made on Schedule SE, Section A, line 4 or Section B, line 4a, by multiplying self-employment income by .9235. The purpose of these deductions is to equalize the social security (and income) taxes paid by (and for) employees and self-employed persons with equivalent income.

Warning

Opting out of social security is relatively simple. Form 4361 must be filed by the due date of the tax return for the second year with $400 or more, any portion of which comes from the exercise of ministry. But the simplicity of opting out should not be confused with the significant difficulty of complying with the requirements for opting out.

Key Issue

Unless ministers have opted out of social security, the net ministerial income plus the excluded housing allowance and the fair rental value of church-provided housing is subject to self-employment social security tax. This is true even if the minister is retired and receiving social security benefits. There is no age limit on paying social security tax.

Line by Line

Form 1040

New for 2018, the IRS has simplified the basic tax Form 1040 from two full pages down to two half pages. With this simplified design, from 79 lines in 2017 down to 23 lines now, the IRS is no longer offering Forms 1040A or 1040EZ.

The first half page of the new Form 1040 includes basic taxpayer and dependent identification information, while the second page is where all income and tax reporting occur. To accomplish this simplified design, the IRS has moved many of the less frequently used fields and added them to Schedules 1-5. Many ministers may report information on several of these schedules, especially as it relates to self-employment taxes.

Reviewing the Form 1040 and Schedules 1-5 line by line may jog one’s memory about money received or spent in 2018.

- Filing status. Married filing jointly: If the minister’s spouse died in 2018, he or she can still file jointly and take advantage of tax rates that would be lower than if he or she files as a single person or as a head of household.
- Married filing separately: If the minister is married and lives in a separate-property state, compute the tax two ways—jointly and separately. Then, file the return resulting in the lower tax.

Filing Tip

All compensation from Form W-2 is reported on line 1. Be sure the church has not included the housing allowance amount in Box 1 of Form W-2.

- Income (lines 1 to 6). Line 1: If the minister is considered an employee for income tax purposes, he or she should receive Form W-2 from the employer. The total amount of the taxable wages is shown in Box 1 of Form W-2; attach Copy B of the W-2 to your Form 1040. Include the data from other W-2s received for the minister or spouse on this line. If the church erroneously included the housing allowance in Box 1, Form W-2, the minister should ask the church to reissue a corrected Form W-2.

If the cash housing allowance designated and paid by the employer exceeds the lowest of (1) the amount used to provide a home from current ministerial income, (2) the amount

Filing Tip

Form 1040, Page 2, Line 1. If the housing allowance designated by the employer exceeds the housing allowance exclusion to which the minister is entitled, he or she must include the difference on line 1 with a description “Excess housing allowance.” The exclusion is limited by the lower of the fair rental value of a minister-provided home or the actual housing expenses.

Line 2a: Here's where to note any tax-exempt interest from municipal bonds or municipal bond funds. Don't worry—that income is not taxable. But social security recipients must count all their tax-exempt interest when computing how much of their social security benefits will be taxable.

Line 2b: Include as taxable-interest income the total amount of earnings on savings accounts, certificates of deposit, credit union accounts, corporate bonds and corporate bond mutual funds, U.S. treasuries and U.S. government mutual funds, and interest paid to the minister for a belated federal or state tax refund (whether or not a Form 1099-INT has been received). If the statements due have not yet been received, call the issuer to get them. If more than $1,500 of taxable interest income was received in 2018, Schedule B must also be completed.

Line 3b: Enter as dividend income only ordinary dividends, not capital-gains dividends paid by mutual funds, which are reported on Schedule D. Form 1099-DIV statements show the amount and type of ordinary dividends received during 2018. If more than $1,500 in dividend income was received in 2018, Schedule B must be completed. Remember: earnings from a money-market mutual fund are considered dividend income, not interest income.

Line 4a: Report all distributions from IRAs, pensions and annuities on this line, including amounts that were rolled over tax-free in 2018 from one account into another.

Line 4b: Report the taxable portion of these distributions. If any distributions were received from a denominationally sponsored plan, the minister may be eligible to exclude a portion or all of these payments as a housing allowance.

Line 5a: No more than 85% of social security benefits can be taxed for 2018 and none at all if the provisional income is below $32,000 on a joint return, $25,000 for singles. If the income doesn't exceed the threshold, leave this line blank. If it does, use the worksheet on Form 1099-SSA to compute taxes on the benefits.

Line 5b: Report any taxable portion of social security benefits on this line.

- Tax computation (lines 7 to 13). Line 8: Claim the standard deduction only if the amount exceeds what could be written off in itemizing expenses on Schedule A. For 2018, the standard deduction is $24,000 joint, $18,000 head of household, and $12,000 single. The amounts are higher if the minister or spouse is 65 or older or legally blind.

Line 12a: If the minister has a dependent child (a child under the age of 17 at the end of the tax year), he or she should complete Schedule 8812 to claim up to a maximum credit of $2,000 per qualifying child. This credit can reduce the actual taxes owed dollar-for-dollar, but only $1,400 per child can be refundable beyond 2018.

Line 16: Did the minister have a voluntary withholding arrangement whereby the employing church withheld federal income tax from the minister's compensation? Then show the amount of federal income tax the church withheld (from the W-2, Box 2) along with other federal income tax withholding from other employment of the minister or spouse here. Also include tax withheld on the other Forms 1099 and W-2. The amount withheld should be shown in Box 6 of Form 1099-SSA and Box 4 of other Forms 1099.

Line 17a: Enter the earned income tax credit here or let the IRS calculate it. If the minister has a qualifying child, Schedule EIC must be completed.

Line 17b: Enter the amount of your child tax credit on this line based on the completion of Schedule 8812.

- Refund or amount owed (lines 19 to 23). Line 23: The IRS assumes the taxpayer must pay the estimated tax penalty if he or she owes $1,000 or more beyond what has been paid through withholding or estimated tax and the amount due is more than 110% of the 2017 tax bill. The minister may qualify for one of several exceptions, however. Use Form 2210 to document an exception to an underpayment penalty.

Line 12: Ministers almost always receive some honoraria or fee income from speaking engagements, weddings, funerals, and so on. This income, less related expenses (see page 138), should be reported on Schedule C or C-EZ and entered on this line.

Line 13: Enter capital-gains dividends here if there were no other capital gains or losses in 2018.

Line 23: If you or your spouse is an eligible educator, you can deduct up to $500 (married filing jointly) for unreimbursed teaching-related expenses on this line.

Line 25: Contributions made by a taxpayer to a health savings account (HSA) up to $3,450 for an individual plan and $6,900 for a family plan are deductible on this line. Line 48: If you paid income tax to a foreign country of U.S. possession, you may be able to take this credit. Generally, you must complete and attach Form 1116 to do so. However, if all of your foreign source gross income was from interest and dividends and all of that income and the foreign tax paid on it were reported to you on Form 1099-INT, Form 1099-DIV, or Schedule K and the total of your foreign taxes wasn't more than $600 if married filing jointly, you generally do not have to complete Form 1116.

Line 49: You may be able to take this credit if you paid someone to care for:
 (1) Your qualifying child under age 13 whom you claim as your dependent, (2) Your disabled spouse or any other disabled person who couldn't care for himself or herself, or (3) Your child whom you couldn't claim as a dependent because of the rules for children of divorced or separated parents.

Line 50: If you (or your dependent) paid qualified expenses in 2018 for yourself, your spouse, or your dependent to enroll in or attend an eligible educational institution, you may be able to take an education credit. See Form 8863 for details.

Line 51: Taxpayers with adjusted gross income of $63,000 or less may claim a credit on this line equal to a certain percentage of the employee contributions made to a retirement account or IRA (must complete Form 8880).

Filing Tip

Schedule 3, Line 51. If contributions were made to a 403(b) or 401(k) plan, and the adjusted gross income was $50,000 or less, the minister may be eligible for the retirement savings contributions credit. The credit is also available for contributions to either a traditional or a Roth IRA. The excluded portion of minister's housing does not reduce this credit.

Line 57: If the taxpayer is a qualified minister (see pages 2–9) and has not opted out of social security (see pages 104–8), he or she is self-employed for social security tax purposes. Social Security is not withheld by the church but is calculated on Schedule SE if there were net earnings of $400 or more and paid with Form 1040. The tax is 15.3% of the first $128,400 of 2018 self-employment income. If the total wages and self-employment earnings were less than $128,400, time and headaches can probably be saved by filing the Short Schedule SE on the front of the SE form.

Line 59: The minister will owe the tax on qualified plans plus the 10% penalty on the amount withdrawn from the IRA or another retirement plan if the minister was under 59½, unless certain exceptions are met.

Line 66: Don't get confused: Even though the fourth-quarter 2018 estimated tax payment was made in January 2019, it's counted on the 2018 return.

Schedule A (Itemized Deductions)

If the minister lives in church-provided housing, he or she often cannot itemize. But run down Schedule A just to see whether there might be more write-offs than the standard deduction will permit.

- Medical and dental expenses (lines 1 to 4). Don't overlook the cost of getting to and from the doctor or pharmacist. Write off 18 cents per mile plus the cost of parking. If the taxpayer didn't drive, deduct any bus, train, or taxi fares. The cost of trips to see out-of-town specialists and as much as $50 a day for the cost of lodging when out of town to get medical care count toward the 7.5% limit of adjusted gross income. Include all health insurance premiums, as well as Medicare Part B premiums for 2018.
- Taxes you paid (lines 5 to 7). Even though real estate taxes are a housing expense excludable under the housing allowance, they may still be deducted (even for multiple properties if not deducted elsewhere on the return) on line 5b as an itemized deduction—one of the few “double benefits” allowed in the tax law.
- Interest you paid (lines 8 to 10). Line 8a: If the minister bought a house during 2018, review all escrow or settlement papers for any mortgage interest paid that was not shown on the lender's year-end statement. If interest was paid on a second mortgage or line of credit secured by the minister's home, include the interest expense here.

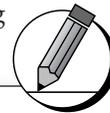

It is possible to deduct mortgage interest as an itemized deduction even if the interest is included in housing expenses subject to a housing allowance. Interest on a home equity loan or line of credit is not deductible on Schedule A unless the loan proceeds were used to buy, build, or substantially improve the minister's home that secures the loan.

Likewise, the only mortgage interest properly includible as housing expense under a housing allowance is when the loan proceeds were used to provide housing. For example, interest on a second mortgage used to finance a child's college education is not deductible on Schedule A and does not qualify as a housing expense for housing allowance purposes.

Don't overlook points paid to get the mortgage. All of the points are generally deductible as interest here. Points paid for a refinancing must be amortized over the life of the loan. But it is permissible to deduct on the 2018 return the portion of all points paid that correspond with the percentage of refinancing used for home improvements.

- Gifts to charity (lines 11 to 14). Line 16: For gifts you made in 2018, there must be written acknowledgments from the charity of any single gifts of $250 or more and for all gifts of cash.

Line 12: Deduct charitable mileage for any volunteer work at the rate of 14 cents a mile.

Filing Tip

Schedule A, 8a-c. These lines relate to the most significant tax break available to ministers who own their own homes. Even though real estate taxes, mortgage interest, and points are excludable under the housing allowance, subject to certain limits, the same amounts are deductible as itemized deductions.

Schedule C (C-EZ)

Nearly every minister should file Schedule C or Schedule C-EZ. While a minister should receive Form W-2 for employment compensation and report the amount in Box 1 of Form W-2 on Form 1040, line 1, most ministers have some income from honoraria or fees related to weddings or funerals. Additionally, a minister may have speaking fees unrelated to the employer, product royalties, and other self-employment income reportable on Schedule C (C-EZ).

Filing Tip

Schedule C-EZ, Line 2. Only business expenses related to the income reported on line 1 may be reported on line 2. A minister's housing expenses are not deducted on this form (or generally any other form). Unreimbursed expenses related to employee compensation are not deductible as a result of tax reform.

Only expenses related to the income reported on Schedule C (C-EZ) may be deducted on the form. For example, if a minister received honoraria of $500 for speaking at a church other than where employed, the $500 is reported on Schedule C (C-EZ) and the travel and other expenses related to the speaking engagement are deductible on the form. Expenses related to a minister's primary employment (compensation that was reported on Form W-2) is no longer deductible. This highlights the importance of churches adopting an accountable expense reimbursement policy. If using Schedule C-EZ, reflect the data as follows:

- Gross receipts. Line 1: Include income from honoraria, fees, product royalties, and other income earned as an independent contractor.
- Total expenses. Line 2: Only include business expenses related to the income on line 1.

Schedule SE

Most ministers will need to file Schedule SE to report income subject to self-employment taxes. Most frequently, a minister will be able to utilize the short-form (page 1 of the form), but the decision matrix at the top of the form will indicate if a minister may need to utilize the long form (page 2 of the form).

When computing the self-employment tax, net earnings include the gross income earned from performing qualified services minus the deductions related to that income. See Self-Employment Social Security Tax Worksheet on pages 52 and 68.

Form 2441

If the minister paid someone to care for his or her child or other qualifying person so he or she (and spouse, if filing a joint return) could work or look for work in 2018, the minister may be able to take the credit for child and dependent care expenses.

- Qualifying person (Line 2[a]). A qualifying person is any child under age 13 who can be claimed as a dependent. If the child turned 13 during the year, the child is a qualifying person for the part of the year he or she was under age 13.
- Qualified expenses (Line 2[c]). These include amounts paid for household services and care of the qualifying person while the taxpayer worked or looked for work. Child support payments are not qualified expenses. Household services include the services of a cook, maid, babysitter, housekeeper, or cleaning person if the services were partly for the care of the qualifying person.

Form 8863

Education credits may be taken if the minister, spouse, or a dependent claimed on the taxpayer's return was a student enrolled at or attending an eligible educational institution.

- American Opportunity Credit (Part I). The minister may be able to take a credit of up to $2,500 for qualified expenses paid in 2018 for each student who qualifies for the credit (see instructions for Form 8863).
- Lifetime learning credit (Part II). The maximum lifetime learning credit for 2018 is $2,000, regardless of the number of students. The lifetime learning credit cannot be taken for any student for whom the American Opportunity Credit is being taken.
- Qualified expenses (worksheet in form instructions). Generally, qualified expenses are amounts paid in 2018 for tuition and fees required for the student's enrollment or attendance at an eligible educational institution. Qualified expenses do not include amounts paid for room and board, insurance, medical expenses, transportation, or course-related books, supplies, and equipment.

Tip

It does not matter whether the education expenses were paid in cash, by check, by credit card, or with borrowed funds.

Form 8889

The minister may be required to file Form 8889 if he or she participated in a Health Savings Account (HSA) in 2018.

- HSA distributions (Line 14). Amounts withdrawn from the HSA in 2018 are reflected on this line. There is generally no tax impact of HSA withdrawals unless they exceed unreimbursed medical expenses.
- Unreimbursed medical expenses (Line 15). Medical expenses that were not reimbursed by your medical insurance may generally be included on this line.

Tip

There is no requirement to file Form 8889 if HSA withdrawals for the year do not exceed unreimbursed medical expenses.

Form 8962

The premium tax credit is for those that were enrolled in health insurance through a state marketplace. The credit provides financial assistance to pay the premiums. This form reconciles whether there is a refund owed to a taxpayer or whether the taxpayer owes additional taxes related to an advance payment of the premium tax credit. There is an example of this form in use on page 67, which includes an excess advance payment of the premium tax credit.

- Part I. This section determines the annual contribution amount one is required to pay out of pocket.
- Part II. This section reconciles how much one has paid based on Form 1095-A and how much should be paid based on actual income as determined in Part I.
- Part III. This section is used to determine any necessary repayment of excess advance payment of a premium tax credit.
- Parts IV & V. Use these parts to make allocations as it may relate to divorces, married filing separately, marriages, or where a policy is shared between two tax families. See the Instructions to 8962 for further details.

- See the instructions for Form 1040, line 17a, to make sure that (a) you can take the EIC, and (b) you have a qualifying child.
- Be sure the child's name on line 1 and social security number (SSN) on line 2 agree with the child's social security card. Otherwise, at the time we process your return, we may reduce or disallow your EIC. If the name or SSN on the child's social security card is not correct, call the Social Security Administration at 1-800-772-1213.

- You can't claim the EIC for a child who didn't live with you for more than half of the year.
- If you take the EIC even though you are not eligible, you may not be allowed to take the credit for up to 10 years. See the instructions for details.
- It will take us longer to process your return and issue your refund if you do not fill in all lines that apply for each qualifying child.
